

CASLPM Council's Mandate

The College of Audiologists and Speech-Language Pathologists of Manitoba (CASLPM) plays a key role in protecting and serving the public by ensuring that audiologists and speech-language pathologists deliver high-quality, compassionate care. CASLPM is responsible for ensuring that registrants provide services that are safe and effective and that facilitate the best possible outcomes for patients and clients. Council and committees support, lead, and encourage registrants to obtain the most current knowledge, skills, and evidence-based practices available to them.

The full mission, core functions, and mandate can be found on the CASLPM website. The mandate is outlined in the Regulated Health Profession's Act (RHPA) Section 10(2).

Strategic Focus

With a registrant base of approximately 500 members, the CASLPM Council provides oversight and guidance for the mandate of the College. Council makes decisions to establish by-laws, enforce regulations and policies, and support initiatives that protect and serve the public interest. The Council is accountable to the Minister of Health and has a duty to operate in good faith and in the best interests of the College to fulfill its mandated objectives.

In 2024, CASLPM's Council approved strategic focus objectives with a focus on accessibility and inclusion with a desired outcome of developing engaged and prepared professionals. Working groups are actively involved in growing relationships with registrants to strengthen the work of the Council and the College.

Desired Skills and Knowledge

Interested audiologists and speech-language pathologists may contribute their knowledge, skill, and experience to the Council. In turn, Council involvement provides registrants with rewarding opportunities to participate in both public protection and the continuing advancement of the professions of audiology and speech-language pathology.

With an awareness of the College's Mission, Core Functions, and Mandate, Council members work together to make informed decisions. Efforts are made to reach consensus on decisions that respect the wide range of work environments and skill sets representative of registrants of the College.

Council members are informed, interested, and engaged in the work of the College, and participate in meetings with a broad, big-picture view.

Orientation and training regarding governance oversight and fiduciary responsibilities are provided to Council and committee members. Other professional development opportunities for Council members may also be provided from time to time.

Serving on Committees

In addition to attending Council meetings, Council members serve on statutory and/or standing committees of the College. The number of committee meetings per year varies according to the committee Terms of Reference and workload. Additional work may be requested to represent the College on external organizations or committees.
